Independent innovation and development in the process of transition to a market economy is one of the priorities of the principle of a strong social policy development in the world as the "Uzbek model" is recognized as one of the most important aspects of the development of all aspects of the correct way to prove the history of the past 25 years of independence. President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Islam Karimov noted that, "We selected the five principles of gradual, evolutionary development model of how to ensure a fair and efficient that we have seen in the establishment of new democratic system, the economy has grown more than 5 times higher incomes has increased almost 9 times completely changed the image of our towns and villages, and well-being, while increasing our confidence in the future is not difficult to see the "1}. This principle in the field of social protection of the population, to solve social tasks of deepening market reforms aimed to establish strict safeguards to protect the interests of national economic policy based on the model, the main priority is to improve the living standards of the population and the needs of low-income part of the social protection of the disabled, pensioners, the elderly, young children and women, material and moral support will always remain one of the key topics.

Social protection of the population in any period, the most important task facing the state and society. Because the people's way of life, mood, due to the ongoing reforms should be, first and foremost, they are directly related to the level of social protection.

In particular, the deepening of the market economy continue to increase in the importance of social protection. The experience of the countries of the world, the economic problems, and to overcome the economic crisis. However, the solution of social problems, is not easy to mitigate the social consequences of the crisis. He is a very big effort, time and, most importantly, will require far-sighted policy of rational thought. The social protection of the population in some countries, depending on the solution of social issues, the wrong approach to a social crisis, social crisis, lead to huge losses is widely known. The consequences of failure to solve social problems can also lead to the decline of the state. These are some ways to show the importance of further development of the social sphere. Guaranteeing social and legal protection when there is a strong and effective mechanism to maintain social and political stability.

Market economy would not wake easily see that the President Karimov: «Us in the transition to a qualitatively new state of society during the reform will worsen the financial status of the people, all the difficulties of the transition period is not acceptable to the population fell by default» 2}, he said.

Karimov said «Uzbekistan's transition to a market economy» has its own way of his work and that it is a reliable guarantor of a strong social policy and economic changes at all stages of the transition to a market economy, stressed the need for a strong social policy. This means that the period of transition to a market economic system reform, the issue of social protection of particularly vulnerable part of the population in the first place.

Increasing attention to the social sphere of society, to guarantee social protection is one of the main priorities of the state policy. The country's national development model that will form the basis of the five principles of strong social policy.

In the first years of independence, in accordance with the principles developed by the President Islam Karimov determined, strong social protection of the population. First of all, the social sphere, in particular, the social support of radical reform. Particular attention was paid to the strengthening of the legislative framework in this area. In 1991 adopted a law on social protection of the disabled. In addition, the President of Karimov «To enhance the social protection of low-income families on low income families» in the Decree of the Cabinet of Ministers resolution on the organization of social protection, public pension provision, the provision of employment, the health of the population in various fields ensuring the social protection of workers, lone elderly, the disabled and the strengthening of social protection of pensioners, socially vulnerable layers of the population, the Decree of the President on the way to strengthen support and a number of other regulatory documents.

The Ministry of Labor and Social Protection of the Republic of Uzbekistan and the state following the strong social policy, «Social protection designed for the period until 2010, the population of the Republic of Uzbekistan to develop the concept» of the creation of a single system.

This is the only way to implement the concept of the social policy of the state of development and the various government agencies and non-governmental organizations pointed to the need to combine forces. Methods of social protection, funding sources for radical change, this does not solve the problems but at the expense of the state, but as the need to attract the funds of the charity and public rules.

Working with the issues of social protection and social security authorities, Ministry of Finance, the Ministry of Health, Ministry of Communications, pension funds and public institutions, which are blind, deaf and dumb, the disabled, the Red Crescent Society, «Mercy», «Children», «Navruz », «Healthy generation» as charity funds more efficiently. As a result, low-income, vulnerable population groups and support them with comprehensive care measures. As a result, the head of state noted that the introduction of market mechanisms of social and legal protection of the precautionary measures already put proven that it is an objective necessity in life.

President Islam Karimov today in the sphere of social life to overcome adverse circumstances, to allow for the sharp decline in the living standards of the people, ensuring the social protection of vulnerable layers and groups of the population, socio-political stability and civil accord were able to maintain {3} means that the same is true. In fact, the period of transition to a market economy country with strong social protection system.

September 3, 1993 by the Oliy Majlis of the Republic of Uzbekistan adopted the Law On State Pensions, which entered into force on July 1, 1994.

These decrees and decisions of social protection of citizens' self-governing bodies to increase the role of social protection in order to strengthen their responsibility in ensuring a specific focus on the person.

The Constitution of the Republic of Uzbekistan to strengthen citizens' rights to social security and guarantees. In particular, Article 39 of the Constitution of the Republic of Uzbekistan says: 'Each one, in the event of disability and loss of breadwinner and in other cases envisaged by the law and the right to social security. improve the living standards of the people, to ensure the interests of the socially vulnerable layers of the population, aimed at further development of the native Uzbekistan.

The country every year to give a specific name in order to strengthen the social protection of the population and a number of state programs have been adopted and enacted. In particular, the Year of the Family in 1998, the Year of Women in 1999, the Year of the Healthy Generation, 2001, 2000, 2002 was declared the Year of the elderly and apply them to solve social problems in the implementation of specific programs and involvement of the public good results. The President's January 23, 2007 On the State Program of Social Protection decided to further increase the efficiency of the existing system of social protection of vulnerable citizens tailored approach to strengthen the development of new legislation and amendments to existing legislation should be defined.

All our reforms to increase the value of man in his honor, to protect the interests of the sector. In particular, one of the main directions of the social sphere of education and upbringing of the younger generation, increasing the scale of the reforms associated with the spiritual.

These reforms target the younger generation with modern international standards of education, vocational training, interactive teaching methods, the introduction of new campuses, such as the establishment of priorities.

Regulatory documents with the issues of education and training as well as for the young person in care, benefits and incentives also covers significant. This is not surprising. The education and upbringing of the young generation of attention and care, first of all, the foundation will be worthy of their country. President of «Uzbekistan's independence and development» work, said: «Every human being, especially in the minds of young people who just let life to achieve the goals laid out in such a point that they absorb them, so this is their firm zeal, full devotion and endless diligence should realize that. The same is true of the condition of the framework for the development of our state and our nation» {5}.

Respect all aspects of the elderly in our country has a great work is being carried out. Today, the average monthly salary in the amount of funds allocated from the state pension of more than 41 percent of the state's care for the elderly, such as to observe the rare countries in the world.

The creation of a democratic society, the human remains of wealth. This is the content of reforms. According to President Karimov said: «Our main roads leading to the creation of wealth in the developed countries the main support person. Highly skilled and highly spiritual man» {6}.

It should be noted that, provided that reforms are important to the extension of social protection is an ongoing priority. This, in turn, determines the following factors:

- Strong social protection policies and strengthen confidence in the independence and the path of progress, it will form the basis of the material on the ground.

- A strong social policy for the sake of a decent living and working conditions.

A decent living condition of the progression of the human factor into consideration the ongoing issue of the effective use of social protection to address this issue in our country, it will become obvious how:

- Strong social protection policy consistent course of reforms in the interest of the citizens through the process of renewal and increase of the social base of the service do not allow it.

Family, social support is a cornerstone of the social policy of the attention. Strengthening our social foundations of the state, its stability, physically strong and spiritually rich generation - the future of our country attaches great importance to the role of the family in the upbringing of the owners of the site. Designed to ensure stronger protection of motherhood and childhood. In particular, the 2016 "Healthy Mother and Child" and the announcement of these measures, which should be completed in the State program on development is proof of this is covered.

Taking into account the characteristics of the national population structure and lifestyles, and socially most vulnerable families through civic and providing material support to a specific form of social support has been introduced and widely supported. The population on this issue in the centuries-old roots. Test method is designed to support the vulnerable segments of the population vulnerable to guarantee that the owners of distribution of funds.

Today, almost no material factors that can adversely affect the well-being of the population. Instead of stabilizing the conditions for the growth of the population's living standards and increasing the factors that create reliable guarantees.

Most importantly, the prosperity of the motherland and the people as a result of the work being carried out in the way that sustainable peace in the country, the people, spirit dominated the mood. This has been pursued on the basis of the principles of humanity and kindness of the state because of our consistent policy. Consequently, the country's interests above all. His rights and freedoms, honor, dignity and other inalienable rights are protected by law.
